EVE Systems' portable LED lamp, Eve Flare, offers up to half a dozen hours of untethered illumination courtesy of its built-in battery. Apart from delivering a flexible illumination solution for those who would like to experience with various lighting situations, the Eve Flare doubles up as a portable wireless charger to boot. Needless to say, when you take advantage of its wireless charging capability, the overall battery life of the Eve Flare will also drop in tandem.

Even better yet, you do not have to worry too much about light rain or the occasional drizzle since it sports IP65 water resistance that makes it more than capable of working well even under such conditions.

The Eve Flare also boasts of an accompanying Eve app that makes it a snap to explore ready-made shades as well as fine tune custom colours. Those who decide to pick up this US$99.95 device will be able to take advantage of the power of Apple HomeKit and a direct Bluetooth connection to the iPhone or iPad.
